

Forge Service Agreement

Version 1, 7 October 2026. Please read every page before you sign.

This agreement is between Forge and the person who signs it at the end (the Owner).

1. What this is

Forge helps the Owner start and run a small business that imports one physical product and sells it in Bangladesh on cash on delivery. The Owner makes the decisions. Forge does the setup work listed below. Forge is a business assistant. It does not promise sales, profit or any result, and Forge can make mistakes.

2. What the Owner does

- Is 18 or older, gives true details, and uses only money the Owner can afford to lose.
- Chooses the industry, product, quantity and business name, and checks every amount before paying.
- Uploads a National ID (front and back), a cheque leaf or a bKash number, and this agreement signed.
- Uploads a trade licence in the business name within 30 days of the day Forge confirms the first payment.
- Hands confirmed parcels to the courier and receives parcels that come back.

3. What Forge does

- Designs logo options, creates the Facebook page, buys the domain, gets the packaging made in Bangladesh and sets up the website.
- Writes the Owner a business plan from the Owner's saved bill and choices.
- Orders the goods from the supplier after the first payment is confirmed and the Owner has read the business plan.
- Ships and clears the goods, runs ads with the budget the Owner sets, and confirms each order with the customer by phone.
- Shows the Owner every bill, order and stock level on the Owner's file.

4. Money

The first bill has the product (supplier price times quantity), the domain, the packaging (from the quote the Owner approves) and the website setup. The Owner pays it in full before Forge orders any goods. Freight, customs duty and clearance cannot be known earlier, so they are billed at the actual cost, as separate lines, after the goods reach Bangladesh. The Owner pays them to receive the goods. If they are not paid, the goods stay in Forge stock. Ad spend is paid by the Owner as the ads run. Forge charges only what appears as a line on a bill the Owner has seen before paying. Amounts on the Forge website are examples only.

5. No refunds, no cancellations

Once the Owner has paid, the payment is not refunded and the order is not cancelled. Goods that have been ordered belong to the Owner. The Owner can pause the business at any time: Forge then stops the ads and stops confirming new orders. Parcels already with the courier continue, and the stock stays with the Owner. Forge does not promise to buy back any stock.

6. Goods and risk

The Owner carries the business risk. Goods may sell slowly or not at all. Customers refuse some parcels, and the courier fee for a refused parcel is a cost of the Owner. Returned goods go back into the Owner's stock to be sold again. Shipments can be late, and supplier prices, freight and customs can change. Unsold goods remain the Owner's.

7. Mistakes

If the Owner sees a mistake in a bill, a plan or any work Forge has done, the Owner tells Forge, and Forge corrects it.

8. Changes after payment

After the Owner reports a payment, the product, quantity, business name, domain and packaging are fixed so that the bill and the order stay the same. The Owner can ask Forge for a change on the Owner's file. Forge decides whether and how the change can be made.

9. Trade licence

If the trade licence is not uploaded within 30 days of the day Forge confirms the first payment, Forge stops the process of doing business. The goods stay in Forge stock until a licence in the business name is uploaded.

10. Documents and personal details

Forge uses the Owner's documents and details only to run the Owner's business, to open the courier account and to follow the law. Forge does not sell them.

11. Law

This agreement follows the laws of Bangladesh.

By signing, the Owner confirms: I have read this agreement. I understand that Forge does not promise sales or profit, that a business can lose money, and that payments are not refunded and orders are not cancelled.
